

WIZO at WAR

Impact Report

In the wake of Israel's most devastating catastrophe on October 7th, WIZO swiftly responded, standing resilient alongside the citizens of Israel, bolstered by your unwavering support.

Through the ongoing pain, this crisis has highlighted the importance of our partnerships worldwide, alongside our 38 Federations around the globe, supporting and encouraging us through these challenging times. At our core, leadership and innovation drive us forward, allowing us to adapt and rise in adversity.

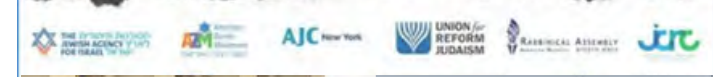

The Global WIZO Movement

From the first hours of October 7th, the WIZO global network, in 38 countries on six continents, rallied as one behind WIZO and the State of Israel.

In addition to the incredible outpouring of financial support provided to our Iron Swords Emergency Campaign, WIZO federations organized countless protests and events, bringing Jews and non-Jews together, as people of decency and morality outraged at the atrocities committed against us, and at the unforgivable ignorance and moral bankruptcy of those who justified Hamas, negated Israel's right to defend itself, and spread vile hatred against Jews and Israel.

WIZO stood at the head of the international chorus of people of good will, chanting "bring them home", and screamed out at the hypocrisy of international women's organizations, who were silent in the face of the most horrific crimes committed against women.

A prominent recent example is a side event to the U.N. Human Rights Council session in Geneva on February 29, organized by WIZO Lausanne, called "Living Through Hamas Captivity". You can watch a recording of this impressive and important event by clicking here.

Iron Swords War Initiatives

Amidst the challenges of the war, we've been diligently working to ensure the well-being and safety of our communities.

- Immediate Opening of 11 Day Care Centers in Hospitals: WIZO is the sole organization authorized from the start of the war to open its 11 child day care centers within hospitals nationwide for parents who are medical professionals. All this was done so they could provide crucial care for the hundreds of injured civilians and soldiers.
- Reopening Additional Day Care Centers: With the IDF Home Front Command's approval, most of WIZO day care centers are now open with fully compliant safety rooms and shelters.
- Invested in Safety: Upgraded shelters in youth villages, schools and WIZO centers to ensure maximum safety.
- Hosted Evacuees: Hundreds of evacuees found refuge in WIZO Gan Vanof Youth Village during the initial weeks of the war, with others housed in WIZO Parents Home and WIZO Hadassim Youth Village.
- Emergency Aid for Women: WIZO's Safety Net program has offered vital emergency assistance to numerous women and children facing economic and psychological hardship.
- Tech for Education: To prevent education disruptions, WIZO provided laptops and tablets to high school students, enabling them to continue learning from home.
- Student Volunteering: Thousands of WIZO high school students are volunteering on farms in the north and south, supported by WIZO funding for transportation costs, addressing severe labor shortages due to the war.
- Emotional Resilience Programs: WIZO teams in day care centers, schools, villages, and shelters benefit from various emotional and professional support activities.

Division Profile

The Early Childhood Education Division operates a nationwide network of premium supervised day care centers catering to infants through age 3. WIZO's highly coveted DCCs are in high demand among parents, consistently boasting annual waiting lists.

Iron Swords War Impact

Right at the start of the Iron Swords War, WIZO received immediate authorization to open 11 day care facilities within hospitals, allowing the medical staff to function properly. During the following weeks, WIZO staff worked diligently together with the IDF Home Front's Commander until approval for the safety of our additional day cares was received.

Despite the uncertainty and fluctuations in service utilization caused by the war's dynamics, as of today, there are close to 11,000 children in WIZO day care centers. The return of children to our day care centers is an important expression of stability and of the faith that parents all over Israel have in WIZO, the quality of our care, and the knowledge that these infants and toddlers are safe and protected. Together, we navigate the uncertainties, adapting our services to the changing landscape and Home Front Command directives.

Remembering Those We Have Lost

"They gave their tomorrow for our today"

It's been almost 6 months since that devastating and fateful day – October 7th, 2023.

Everything we do is being held in the shadow of those events, and the war in Gaza. Tragically, more IDF soldiers continue to be killed or wounded, and over 130 hostages are still living in the endless nightmare of Hamas captivity.

We mourn the loss and take the time to remember those who were killed, wish the wounded a speedy recovery, and hope for the safe return of the hostages.

May their memory be a continued source of strength for us all.

יהי זכרם ברוך.

WIZO Returns to Sderot

The terror experienced by the people of Sderot on that devastating morning of October 7, 2023 is simply unimaginable. The 30,000 residents of Sderot, including the families of nearly 200 children that attend WIZO's three day care centers in the town, and 50 professional staff who cared for them, were forced to flee their homes, refugees in their own land, piling trauma upon trauma.

On March 3, we began reopening our three WIZO day care centers in Sderot. This is an act of dramatic importance for Israel, and a declaration of victory over our enemies, who thought that their murderous atrocities could drive us from our homes, from a part of the sovereign State of Israel; and it is a defiant message to the world: this is our land, and we will never leave.

Reopening these centers, which is so critical for a return to routine life in Sderot, will be a major undertaking, requiring significant resources.

To this end, we have launched an international fundraising campaign to support this vital undertaking.

We need your help.
