

SUMMER LUNCH

with guest speaker Anne Sebba in conversation with John Dunston

Anne Sebba FRSL is a distinguished British historian, biographer, journalist, and former Reuters foreign correspondent, known for her critically acclaimed non-fiction books, often focusing on influential 20th-century women, and her recent work on the Women's Orchestra of Auschwitz.

A Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature and Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Historical Research, she lectures internationally, presents documentaries, and contributes to major publications, bringing meticulous research to untold stories, especially concerning women in history.

John Dunston is President of the Oxford Jewish Congregation (OJC). He has spent his life in education, including taking school groups to Israel and Auschwitz, and serving as the first Jewish Head of Quaker schools. He has written or lectured on subjects of Jewish historical or musical interest. John is former conductor of the choirs of Maidenhead Synagogue and the OJC (Oxford Shir).
